Dear Hiring Manager,

I am thrilled to be applying for the HTML Developer position at MMGY Global. From the vast portfolio of work on your websites, I can tell that MMGY values minimal yet expressive high-efficiency web experiences. My design philosophy has been the same in my past projects, so I know I would be a great fit for your team! I am proficient in web technologies including HTML 5, SCSS/CSS, JavaScript ES6, jQuery, React, and Redux, with 6 years of experience through academics and personal projects.

So far, I've had a diverse and self-motivated web development experience. Recently, I created a social media website called Frontier for a personal project. I set up the database, programmed routes in NodeJS, and created a Front-End experience with React and Redux. Previously, I designed a WordPress website for the Kickstarter campaign of a board game that I created over 4 years with my friends. I also designed and coded my portfolio website from scratch, using HTML, SASS, Bootstrap, JavaScript, and jQuery.

My design talents are what I believe set me apart from other candidates. I have experience as a Graphic Design intern, where I created Photoshop art, sent email campaigns through MailChimp, and made ad campaigns that were published on social media, one of which received over 300 shares on Facebook. From this experience, I've developed an eye for detail that would be crucial for developing successful email campaigns.

About me, I am a self-motivated problem-solver who can accomplish tasks independently. I am ambitious with my work and acutely organized. I believe with my academic achievements, entrepreneurial spirit, and team-oriented mindset, I would excel in this position. I would be beyond excited to form new skills and develop interactive experiences with MMGY Global.

Sincerely,
